

Links to sites on India:

<http://www.hindigym.com/index.php> Hindi Gym: This is a great website that has worksheets to help children learn to read and write Hindi. It has some very useful number worksheets that would be a good follow-up to the worksheet used during The Global Corner's in-school program.

<http://www.teachindiaproject.org/index.htm> Teach India Project: This website is provided by the non-profit organization whose mission is "to provide educators with tools and resources for global awareness and multicultural education and to give parents of the Indian Diaspora a cultural literacy resource so that we may work together to deepen children's understanding of the world." Great lesson plans and materials.

<http://www.woodlands-junior.kent.sch.uk/homework/india.html> India: This British website provides lots of information about India.

<http://india.pppst.com/symbols.html> National Symbols: This website has PowerPoint slides of the national symbols of India. This may come in handy if you are creating a lesson via Power Point.

<http://www.incredibleindia.org> Incredible India: This is the official website of India's Ministry of Tourism and has some wonderful photos. It is a little difficult to get around, though. Click on Travel on the home page, then select the region you want to see, then you can click on individual sights. Enjoy!

<http://homeschooling.gomilpitas.com/explore/india.htm> Explore India: This is a British home-school site on India. It has great information and provides pictures, videos, and lots of interesting facts for those who want to teach their students more about this fascinating country.

<http://www.indiabook.com/india-information/indian-geography.html> India Book: If you need facts about the country or the culture, this is the website for you. Unfortunately, it doesn't contain pictures.

Children's Links

<http://kidworldcitizen.org/2012/07/05/make-your-own-ghungroo-indian-style-ankle-bells> Activity: make your own ankle bells.

<http://kids.nationalgeographic.com/kids/places/find/india> National Geographic's Kids Page for India: as always, Nat Geo provides beautiful pictures and interesting activities for children.

http://www.indianchild.com/mahatma\_gandhi.htm Indian Child: This website tells about the importance of Gandhi to the independence movement in India.

<http://www.factmonster.com/ipka/A0107629.html> Fact Monster: This does have lots of facts about India but it doesn't have many pictures.

http://www.activityvillage.co.uk/rangoli\_colour\_by\_number.htm Download these rangoli patterns to color.